California may have unclaimed property belonging to you.

To claim your property, provide the documentation listed in Section B on this claim form and return it with the required documentation.

About California's Unclaimed Property

California law requires businesses to submit property to the state for safekeeping if there has been no activity on the account or contact with the owner, generally for three years. The property is held for safekeeping until claimed by the rightful owner or heirs. Properties can include, but are not limited, to bank accounts, uncashed checks, stocks, bonds, and the contents of safe deposit boxes.

It may take up to 180 days to process your claim once we receive the signed Claim Form and all required documentation. Visit the State Controller's Unclaimed Property website at Claimit.ca.gov for more program information and to check your claim status. Properties recently transferred to the State Controller's Office may take time to appear on our website. If you have an outstanding debt with a California state agency, county or city, your unclaimed property payment may be intercepted to pay the debt.
